

What to Feed the Kittens?

- The water must be fresh and filtered from chlorine
- Keep your dished clean
- Use the American Journey any flavor, and then use bigger pieces for adult kittens.
- Never mix dry food with wet food. If you want to switch to a different food source do it little by little, gradually adding new food,
- Otherwise, bowel upset or diarrhea.
- Do not give kittens' human food (sausage, chocolate, cheese, etc.)

Remember that the health of your pets depends on what you feed them. This will save you money on veterinary visits in the future. Read the Nutrition Label carefully. We give all our cats meat once a day. A cat is a carnivorous animal; in its diet should be 80% meat (never give kittens chicken bones and pork). Healthy cat food will delight you with a healthy and shiny coat.

- Instinct Ultimate Protein is much better food than American Journey, because this one has much more protein (95%), but it cost more.

- Kittens should also be fed small amounts of canned-wet food once a day. Choose canned food at your discretion, remembering to look at the composition on the Nutrition Label (Grain-Free)

Sometimes you can give kitten some sour cream or goat milk.
